

Dear friend,

Greetings from Samatvam Academy.

Learning is at the root of progress, irrespective of the age, time or industry. The two fabulous articles in this issue - the Interview with Dr. Shubhro Sen, Director - Tata Management Training Center and the Research study, Executive Education: Current Practices & Future Trends - tackle the subject of learning, albeit in different circumstances.

Have an opinion to share? Write to us.

Warm Regards,

Team Samatvam

Interview

Dr. Shubhro Sen

Director, Tata Management Training Center,
Pune

"The biggest trend in leadership education is that of blended learning, coupled with enabling technology."

All learning today must take advantage of the fact that the next generation can be in the learning mode all the time and they have the devices to enable that..."

If one closely studies the quote, Mr. Sen's emphasis on 'Learning' is amply clear. His journey through life is like a collection of Case Studies - learning, understanding & working around challenges are hallmarks of his eventful career.

Research Study

Executive Education: Current Practices and Future Trends

By Jagjit Singh Maan & Dr. Sunil Maheshwari

'Executive Education' focuses on improving the knowledge and skills needed to become an effective leader and by sharpening specific aspects of an executive's toolkit.

But, it goes far deeper than what is generally understood.

In this study, the authors dissect the subject through exhaustive interviews with HR stalwarts and arrive at interesting trends that are likely to characterize the future of Executive Education
